At least seven (7) days advance notice to the general public shall be provided of the annual meeting and a minimum of 24 hours' notice for all active members and to individuals and news media that have requested notice. The Annual meeting will include the Election of Officers and any Bylaw changes.

Section 2. Regular Meetings: Regular meetings of the membership, board, or committees shall be held at such time and place as the board may hereafter establish by appropriate resolution. Regular meetings shall be held at planned intervals to be determined by the board. At least seven (7) days' advance notice to the general public shall be provided of any regular meeting and a minimum of 24 hours' notice for all active members and to individuals and news media that have requested notice.

Section 3. Special Meetings: A special meeting is one called to address issues that arise between regular or annual meetings. Special meetings of the membership, board, or committees, may be called from time to time. In addition, the GPNA president shall, at the request of three (3) directors or ten (10) members, stating the reason therefor, call a special meeting of the membership or the board, and in the event the president shall neglect or fail to do so when requested, the requesting directors or members may call such special meeting and cause the requisite notice thereof to be sent to the members or board. At least seven days' notice shall be provided to the general public of any special meeting and a minimum of 24 hours' notice for all active members and to individuals and news media that have requested notice.

Section 4. Emergency Meetings: The president or any three directors may call emergency meetings of the board as deemed necessary. There shall be not less than 24 hours' notice to the board and to individuals and news media that have requested notice. Minutes of the emergency meeting shall state the nature of the emergency and state why the meeting could not be delayed to allow at least seven days notice. At an emergency meeting, the board may make decisions or deliberate toward decisions only on the agenda topic or topics for which the emergency meeting was called.

Section 5. Remote Communication Meetings: Any meeting otherwise authorized by these bylaws may occur remotely when necessary. A remote, or virtual meeting, is one that does not take place at a specific physical location, but that enables directors and members to communicate in real time with one another electronically or by other means. To the extent reasonably possible, members of the public shall receive notice of any virtual meeting as otherwise required by these bylaws, via the GPNA website, and other frequently used neighborhood communication website(s); and shall have an opportunity to participate in such meetings as otherwise specified according to meeting type.

Section 6. Notice: Notice of every annual, special, or regular meeting shall be given and may be provided by any means reasonably likely to provide such notice. Notice of emergency meetings shall be provided to board members by any means reasonably likely to provide such notice as expeditiously as possible.

Section 7. Minutes: Minutes shall be maintained by the secretary with respect to all annual, regular, special, and emergency meetings, and shall be submitted to board members for review no more than 20 days following the occurrence of each meeting. Should the secretary be unavailable to attend any meeting, the presiding officer shall appoint an alternate to act as secretary. Meetings may be recorded to ensure accuracy of minutes. At the commencement of any recorded meeting those attending shall be advised of the recording.

Section 8. Quorum: A quorum for any annual, regular, special, emergency, or board meeting shall be attendance by board members equal to 50% or greater of the number of Board Members then holding office.

Section 9. Voting: A membership vote at an annual or regular meeting is required for election of officers. A membership vote at an annual, regular, or special meeting is required for amendment of bylaws, dissolution, or merger. All members of the GPNA, including directors, shall be entitled to one (1) vote on those specified subjects, and a majority of those voting shall determine the outcome. Proxy voting shall not be allowed. On all other issues that may come before the GPNA, the board has the responsibility to act in the best interest of the neighborhood and is not specifically bound to vote according to the desire of the majority of members attending a particular meeting.

Section 10. Conflict of Interest: All directors shall take reasonable care to identify and disclose conflicts of interest. An issue concerning which a board member or officer may have a direct or indirect conflict of interest may be approved by a vote of the board if in advance of the vote by the board, the director discloses all material facts of the director's interest to the board. A conflict of interest transaction is considered ratified if it receives the affirmative vote of the majority of the directors present who have no direct or indirect interest in the transaction. A transaction may not be authorized by the vote of a single director. If a majority of the directors who have no direct or indirect interest in the transaction votes to authorize, approve, or ratify a transaction, a quorum must be present for the purpose of taking action. The presence of, or vote cast by a director with a direct or indirect interest in the transaction does not affect the validity of the action taken by the board. A director with a direct conflict of interest shall abstain from voting on the transaction, and a director with an indirect conflict of interest may abstain from voting on the transaction, after disclosing its existence to the board. A direct conflict of interest occurs when the outcome of an issue may benefit a director individually in a manner different from the community as a whole, and an indirect conflict of interest occurs when the vote of a director may benefit a family member, close personal friend, or client of the director in a manner different from the community as a whole.

Section 11. Non-Discrimination: The GPNA is inclusive of all residents and workers within the neighborhood. We are not an homeowner's association. There are no dues or initiation fees, and membership is not limited to homeowners. Furthermore, the GPNA will not discriminate against individuals or groups on the basis of race, ethnicity, religion, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, legal status, national origin, income, housing status, or political affiliation in any of its policies, recommendations, or actions.
